Introduction

Adal Stone® product line is one of the most exciting innovative building materials across the globe in modern history. They are finely thin stone layers with durable polyester resin and glass fibre on the back, which are just sufficient to show the beautiful native stone veins while tremendously help save the stone supplies for the Earth.

They are lightweight, finely thin, extremely flexible and very safe in usage. As a result, you can apply them at various decorative places which were impossible for traditional heavy stone slabs such as curved feature wall, kitchen and furniture, and on diverse base textures such as aluminium, wood, concrete and glass.

Adal Home® proudly provide Adal Stone® in the Australian market, which will open a whole new wide range of beautiful, durable and well-priced decorative stones. More importantly, we wish to create a new green habit of using Adal Stone® to save the environment.
